A national Broadcast in line with field crops potential

« Réussir Grandes Cultures is the monthly reference magazine for field crop managers. It aims to provide concrete solutions to current problems while shedding light on the challenges of tomorrow. Agronomy, machinery, management and markets: all the issues affecting the world of field crops are covered with the constant concern to give farmers a voice and to remain as close to the field as possible. That proximity to readers is reinforced by the team's presence on social networks and via the website, an ideal complement to the magazine's monthly frequency, which allows for a step back in the treatment of information and analysis. »
